INVESTMENT INTELLIGENCE

Prepared by WEPHCO Group's Global Development Intelligence..

LONDON | EGYPT | DUBAI | ABU DHABI

1. How to use this pack

Each property sheet answers four questions: what the market is doing, what yield is realistic, when should an investor enter, and how should each of WEPHCO's four audiences structure the purchase.

| Audience | What they want | What this pack gives them |
|---|---|---|
| Analyst Investor | Verified facts before committing | Net yield, comparable, scenario cases, evidence trail |
| Family Office | Trusted deal visibility across markets | Ownership structure, succession, diversification across the four markets |
| Executive Decision-Maker | Intelligence for employee and corporate programmes | Corporate leases, relocation housing, group purchase options |
| Developer Partner | A vetted audience and honest investor feedback | Standard offer format, buyer feedback loop, pricing signals |

Structuring principles by audience

| Audience | Core guidance |
|---|---|
| Analyst Investor | Give a one-page evidence pack per property: price, net-yield model, three scenarios, comparable, and what is still unverified. Show returns in the buyer's own currency. |
| Family Office | Compare ownership routes (individual, company, trust) with local counsel before the reservation. Plan succession and inheritance exposure. Present the four markets as a diversified set. |
| Executive Decision-Maker | Offer group-purchase and corporate-lease options with clear exit terms. Link purchases to relocation or staff-housing needs. |
| Developer Partner | Use one standard offer format: price list, payment plan, handover, service charge, delivery record. Return structured buyer feedback each quarter. |

Funds, compliance and currency for Nigerian buyers

- Use authorised banking channels and keep a clean source-of-funds file. UK and UAE sellers, lawyers and banks apply anti-money-laundering checks.
- Naira buyers carry currency risk on every purchase, because each property is priced in sterling, dirhams or Egyptian pounds. Convert in stages where possible.
- Confirm current Nigerian foreign-exchange and tax-reporting requirements for outward investment with a qualified Nigerian adviser before funds move.
- Confirm repatriation rules for Egyptian purchases before signing. Show the exit route in writing.

| Dubai | Prices fell 1.7% year on year in August 2026, the first annual decline in about five and a half years. Average gross yield 6.3%; villas 4.5%. Currency pegged to the dollar (3.6725 AED per $). 4% registration fee. |
| Abu Dhabi | H1 2026 sales up 178% to AED 67.8B with a Q2 slowdown. Villa prices up 10% to 14% on Saadiyat and Yas. Saadiyat gross yields 3% to 4.5%; Yas 5% to 7%. 2% registration fee. Pegged currency. |

| Location | 58 Grange Road / New Tannery Way, Bermondsey, Southwark. Final phase of a 4.7-acre masterplan near Bermondsey Street and London Bridge |
| Product | 183 new 1 to 3 bed apartments and duplexes in the final phase (three buildings up to 14 storeys); whole masterplan 406 apartments across six buildings |
| Entry price | Final-phase price list not found in public sources. Earlier-phase and resale guide prices seen: 1 bed about £610k-£635k (about $810k-$845k); 2 bed about £820k-£910k (about $1.09M-$1.21M) |
| Completion | 2028 (listed) |

| Launch status | Private preview 22 May 2026; show home opened 23 May 2026 |

Market data

- Forecasters expect London prices to rise roughly 1% to 4% in 2026, with flats lagging houses (Wephco Intelligence) commentary).
- Prime central London is weaker, down about 5% year on year in early 2026 (Wephco Intelligence). Bermondsey sits outside the prime core, so it is less exposed, but sentiment spills over.
- Wephco Intelligence warns London housing starts are very low, which points to tighter supply later in the decade.
- Rental supply is tight. The Renters' Rights Act took effect in May 2026 and adds uncertainty for landlords.
- Local investment continues: Aviva Investors committed over £100M to two Bermondsey Street sites.

Yield expectations

- Planning range: 3.8% to 4.5% gross, about 2.8% to 3.5% net after service charge, management and voids.
- Basis: Wephco Intelligence puts prime central London gross yield near 3.5%, and market commentary cites about 4.8% across pr central London. Zone 2 new-build usually lands between, so treat this as a working range.
- Replace with a lettings-agent valuation for the exact unit before any client sees a number.

Entry timing

- The final phase has just launched, so choice of floor, aspect and layout is widest now.
- Completion in 2028 gives roughly 18 to 24 months of staged funding. Stamp duty and the balance fall due at completion, so cash planning matters.
- Prime London softness gives negotiating room on price, parking and fixtures. Ask for launch incentives.

Structuring guidance by investor

| Investor | Guidance |
|---|---|
| Analyst Investor | Favour 2 beds for the widest tenant pool. Request the net-yield model with service charge and ground rent. Model stamp duty at the highest stack (see Section 5). |
| Family Office | Take UK tax advice before choosing individual, company or trust ownership. UK homes are within UK inheritance tax even when held through an offshore company. |
| Executive Decision-Maker | Suits 1 to 2 bed corporate lets near London Bridge employers. Test a block purchase and a corporate-lease agreement. |
| Developer Partner | Present the final price list, service charge and completion schedule in the forum format. Seek investor feedback on 1 bed versus 2 bed demand and payment timing. |

| Product | Conversion of an existing building, extended by three storeys to 17. 28 to 30 homes: 2 and 3 bed apartments plus two penthouses. Protected views of Parliament and the Thames |
| Entry price | 2 bed about £2.5M (about $3.3M, 147 sqm). 3 bed about £4.1M to £5.4M (about $5.5M-$7.2M). This matches the brochure's 'from $3,312,625' |
| Completion | Not confirmed in sources found. Confirm status |
| Terms | Leasehold. Gated parking sold separately with selected homes. 24-hour concierge |

Market data

- Prime central London prices fell about 4.9% to 5% in the year to early 2026 (Wephco Intelligence). Prices remain about a quarter below the 2014 peak in nominal terms, per one market commentary.
- Wephco Intelligence projects about +1% for prime London in 2026 and about +9.6% cumulative to September 2029.
- Super-prime stock above £5M has outperformed the wider market in recent quarters (market commentary citing Wephco Intelligence).
- Prime central rents rose only about 1% in the year to February 2026. Demand above £5,000 a week has grown.
- Policy: a council-tax surcharge on homes over £2M has been announced from 2028. Confirm the final rules.

Yield expectations

- Planning range: 3.0% to 3.8% gross, about 2.2% to 3.0% net.
- Basis: Savills cites prime central London gross yield near 3.5%. This is a capital-preservation and trophy asset, not an income asset.
- Scarcity (30 homes) and the protected view are the value case. Use a rental valuation for any income claim.

Entry timing

- A soft prime market favours buyers: negotiate on price and parking, and ask for a longer exchange-to-completion window.
- With so few units, the best floors and the 3 beds are the limited resource. Move early on preferred stack positions.
- Pound exposure: all values are in sterling. A dollar-based buyer takes both property and currency risk.

Structuring guidance by investor

| Investor | Guidance |
|---|---|
| Analyst Investor | Treat as capital preservation. Compare price per sq ft with Westminster and South Bank comparables, and test the exit at lower prime-London prices. |
| Family Office | Strong fit as a legacy or family residence. Plan ownership, inheritance tax exposure and the 2028 council-tax surcharge with UK counsel. |
| Executive Decision-Maker | Suited to senior-executive or diplomatic corporate lets near Westminster. Test a long corporate lease. |

| Location | Parkgate Road, Battersea SW11 4NP. Riverside site beside Ransome's Dock, between Albert and Battersea Bridges, facing Chelsea |
| Product | 118 homes across five buildings of 4 to 9 storeys: 94 private 1 to 4 bed apartments, duplexes and penthouses, plus 24 affordable homes and about 19,000 sq ft of commercial space |
| Entry price | 2 bed asking about £1.7M to £2.15M (about $2.3M-$2.9M), 967 to 1,199 sq ft. Brochure 'from $1,457,555' is about £1.1M, consistent with a 1 bed |
| Launch | Launched 30 January 2026; show home weekend 20 to 21 June 2026 |
| Completion | Not found in sources. Confirm |
| Terms | Leasehold. Private parking offered, which is rare in this part of London |

Market data

- Battersea riverside is part of the prime-adjacent market. Prime central London softness (about -5% year on year in early 2026) applies to sentiment here.
- Savills expects London to grow about 1% to 4% in 2026, with prime locations at the lower end.
- Rental evidence: area listings show 1 bed rentals from about £3,000 a month for riverside Battersea stock.
- Parking and dockside setting differentiate the scheme from tower-based Nine Elms supply.

Yield expectations

- Planning range: 3.2% to 3.8% gross, about 2.4% to 3.0% net.
- Basis: a 1 bed at about £1.1M renting for about £3,000 a month gives about 3.3% gross. Larger homes usually yield slightly less.
- Treat as a prestige-income hybrid. Confirm with an agent's valuation.

Entry timing

- Early-launch stage: widest choice of dockside and river-facing units now.
- Confirm the completion date before setting any investor's cash schedule.
- Use the soft prime market to negotiate on parking and fixtures.

Structuring guidance by investor

| Investor | Guidance |
|---|---|
| Analyst Investor | Compare 1 bed income yield with 2 bed capital value. Build both cases and show the break-even on stamp duty. |
| Family Office | 2 to 4 bed homes with parking suit family use. Take UK tax advice on ownership and inheritance exposure. |
| Executive Decision-Maker | Strong for executive relocation: close to Chelsea, Battersea Park and river transport. |
| Developer Partner | Share the completion timetable and the affordable-housing mix. Gather feedback on parking premium and 1 bed demand. |

| Product | Villas, twin houses, townhouses and apartments in a low-density, wellness-themed community (88% green space, central 'Wellness Boulevard' waterway) |
| Entry price | Launch price from about EGP 13.2M (about $264k at EGP 50 per $). Resale asks seen: 1 bed EGP 9.4M-10.4M, 2 bed about EGP 15M, 3 bed villa EGP 40M-55M (about $0.8M-$1.1M) |
| Handover | Q4 2030 per project listings; some resale listings show mid-2030 |
| Payment terms | Resale listings show 5% down and instalments over 9 to 10 years, fully finished. Confirm developer terms and the price currency |

Market data

- Inflation was 14.5% in August 2026. The central bank policy rate was 19% in February 2026 after cuts.
- The Egyptian pound moved from about EGP 46.6 to EGP 54.8 per dollar in 2026, averaging about EGP 50.5. That range is about 17%.
- Property prices rose roughly 10% to 18% in the 12 months to June 2026 in Egyptian pound terms, but about flat after inflation (market commentary).
- Gross rental yield in Cairo averaged about 7.6% in Q2 2026 (Global Property Guide), but net after costs is often 4% to 5%, still in Egyptian pounds.
- A downturn scenario cited by one analyst has dollar resale values falling 15% to 30% if currency, inflation and delivery problems combine.

Yield expectations

- Planning range: 5% to 7% gross in Egyptian pounds, about 3% to 5% net, for a completed community.
- Eastvale has no rental track record yet (handover around 2030). Mostakbal City is an emerging rental market.
- A dollar buyer's return is the Egyptian-pound return minus any Egyptian-pound depreciation. Show both views.

Entry timing

- Handover about four years away. Long instalments mean exposure to inflation and the Egyptian pound over time.
- Check whether the contract is priced in Egyptian pounds or dollars. Egyptian-pound-priced instalments become cheaper in dollars if the Egyptian pound weakens, but the asset's dollar value falls too.
- If paying in dollars, stage conversions across the instalment schedule rather than converting at one point.

Structuring guidance by investor

| Investor | Guidance |
|---|---|
| Analyst Investor | Build base, weak-pound and strong-pound (Egyptian) cases. Insist on the contract currency, delivery milestones and resale rules. |
| Family Office | Treat as a satellite allocation to Egyptian growth next to Gulf and London holdings. Plan how proceeds will be repatriated. |
| Executive Decision-Maker | Long instalments suit a corporate programme for Egyptian operations or staff housing. Test developer delivery guarantees. |

Market data

- Dubai residential prices fell 1.7% year on year in August 2026, the first annual decline in about five and a half years (Engel & Völkers).
- Gross yields average about 6.3% (August 2026): apartments 6.7%, townhouses 5.1%, villas 4.5%.
- Villas and townhouses are under 20% of Dubai's housing stock and about 19% of the 2026 supply pipeline (ValuStrat), which supports low-density values.
- Earlier forecasts of 17.7% villa growth for 2026 pre-date the August print. Treat them as outdated.
- Dubai charges a 4% land department registration fee on purchase (confirm current fees).

Yield expectations

- Planning range: 4.0% to 5.0% gross, about 3.0% to 4.0% net after service charge and management.
- The case is capital growth in a scarce villa segment next to Al Barari, not income.
- Resales are offered at 'last unit' and low-deposit terms, which signals buyer competition on the secondary market.

Entry timing

- Handover in 2029. A softer price trend means buyers can negotiate, and later Cassia phases may offer better terms.
- Watch whether the August price decline continues in Q3 data before committing large tickets.
- Check developer approval and fees for assigning a unit before handover.

Market data

- Saadiyat recorded about AED 8.8B in transactions in Q1 2026, and apartment prices have risen strongly.
- Average Saadiyat rents are AED 87,800 for a 1 bed and AED 142,700 for a 2 bed (2026). Against launch prices that is only about 3.0% and 3.2% gross.
- One dataset puts the net yield on Saadiyat 2 beds near 0.4%. Treat as a stress case: entry prices run far ahead of rents.
- Saadiyat is the weakest rental-yield market among Abu Dhabi's investment islands, but a prestige and capital-preservation location.

Yield expectations

- Planning range: 3.0% to 4.0% gross, about 2.0% to 3.0% net.
- New-build rents may exceed averages from older stock, so test with current wellness-branded comparables.
- Low yield means the case rests on capital growth and lifestyle value.

Entry timing

- The staged plan spreads 50% of the price over about four years, which suits phased funding.
- Half the price is due at handover in Q4 2030. Plan that balance early.
- Confirm pre-handover resale rules, since early resale is the main route to a gain before completion.

Structuring guidance by investor

| Investor | Guidance |
|---|---|
| Analyst Investor | Underwrite on growth with 3% gross income. Compare price per sq ft with other Saadiyat apartments. |
| Family Office | Smaller prestige holding in a dollar-pegged market. Check freehold zone and residency options with UAE counsel. |
| Executive Decision-Maker | Wellness positioning suits senior executive housing and corporate programmes. |
| Developer Partner | Gather feedback on 1 versus 2 bed demand and the staged plan. |

Confirm before presenting

- Pre-handover resale rules
- Rental comparables for new-build wellness units
- Brochure price band by unit type
- Retail and duplex availability
